FIDH, meeting on the occasion of its 39th Congress in Johannesburg, South Africa

Deeply concerned by the continuing deterioration of the security and human rights situation prevailing in Burundi; and Alerting on the continuing mass arbitrary arrests and detentions, targeted killings and extrajudicial executions, torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, enforced disappearances, sexual crimes and other serious human rights violations; Recalling that these crimes are committed mostly by Burundian security forces against civilians and under orders of authorities;

Strongly condemning all public statements inciting violence and ethnic hatred. Condemning especially speeches of some high ranking officials of the regime inciting hatred against Tutsis and all those considered opponents. Concerned by the fact that Tutsis are increasingly targeted by Burundian security services. Alerting on the genocidal character of the authorities’ repression and on the risk that the ongoing crimes drift into a genocide;

Concerned by the persistent political impasse and the failure of last negotiations held in Arusha, Tanzania, between 12 and 14 July 2016, under the aegis of Ugandan mediation. Recalling that during this session of the inter-Burundian dialogue, Burundian authorities have again refused to dialogue with the opposition and independent civil society;

Recalling the decision of the African Union Peace and Security Council of 17 December 2015 underling that “only a genuine and truly inclusive dialogue, based on the respect of the Arusha Agreement and the Constitution of Burundi, will allow the Burundian stakeholders to overcome the serious difficulties facing their country, as well as strengthen social cohesion, democracy and the rule of law”. Recalling the resolution 2248 of the UN Security Council of 12 November 2015 calling upon the national authorities to engage “an inter-Burundian dialogue in coordination with the Government of Burundi and all concerned and peaceful stakeholders, both who are in Burundi and those outside the country, in order to find a consensual and nationally owned solution to the current crisis”;

Strongly condemning the arming, training and deployment throughout the country of Imbonerakure – members of the Youth League of the ruling party – and their use as auxiliaries of the police, army, and the National Intelligence Service. Condemning the serious human rights violations committed by these Imbonerakure against civilians including arbitrary arrests and detentions, killings, enforced disappearances, torture and rapes;

Alarmed by the escalating violence related to the increased organisation, arming and training of rebel armed groups carrying out targeted attacks in various provinces of the country and condemning attacks against civilians and targeted killings carried out by these groups;

Denouncing repression against human rights defenders and journalists, which led to the suspension of the main human rights organizations as well as all independent media in the country. Recalling that almost all representatives of human rights organizations have fled the country following threats, acts of intimidation or attacks, and four of them are the subjects of an international arrest warrants, issued by the national authorities in October 2015. Calling for the immediate and unconditional release of Jean Bigirimana, journalist for Burundian independent press group Iwacu, who was arrested without warrant by the National Intelligence Service on 22 July 2016 and is still missing. Urging Burundian authorities to open as soon as possible an independent, impartial and effective investigation on the disappearance since 10 December 2015 of Marie-
Claudette Kwizera, ITEKA treasurer, to locate her whereabouts and, if necessary proceed to her immediate and unconditional release or provide information about her fate;

Recalling that the African Commission of Human and Peoples Rights (ACHPR) concluded after its investigations in Burundi that serious and massive human rights violations were committed in the country since April 2015 in great majority by security forces of Burundian government. Recalling that the ACHPR recommended the establishment of inquiry and judicial mechanisms to determine the criminal responsibility of perpetrators of human rights violations; Concerned that no credible and serious investigation into serious and massive human rights violations perpetrated since April 2015 has been initiated by Burundian authorities to identify and bring those responsible to justice;

Welcoming the decision of the International Criminal Court (ICC) Prosecutor of 25 April 2016 to open a preliminary examination into the situation in Burundi since April 2015;

Deploring that Burundi has boycotted the second phase of its review by the UN Committee against Torture on 29 July 2016;

Concerned by the continuing deterioration of the humanitarian situation in Burundi; and Recalling that, according to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, since April 2015, nearly 274,000 people have fled the country on 30 June to seek refuge in neighbouring countries, in Tanzania, Uganda, Rwanda, Democratic Republic of Congo and Zambia.

FIDH, meeting on the occasion of its 39th Congress in Johannesburg, South Africa:
